'REST IN PEACE MY BEAUTIFUL SISTER'

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

FRIENDS of an aspiring teacher killed in a quad bike accident in Australia have set up an online fundraising page to help her parents pay towards the expense of bringing her body back to England.

Bryony Bonekyn, 21, who grew up in Nursery Street, Tottenham, died when the four-wheeled motorised off-road vehicle she was riding rolled on top of her as she hit water on a beach in Queensland on Saturday July 18.

She had been scheduled to return home in a fortnight's time, having spent six weeks in Sri Lanka as a volunteer at an elephant sanctuary before backpacking around Australia.

A former pupil at Lancasterian Primary School, in King's Road, Tottenham, where her mother taught, she went to Park View secondary school, in West Green Road, before doing her A-levels at Woodhouse Sixth Form College, in Finchley. Her ambition was to become a teacher and she was due to begin studying for an English literature degree at the University of Brighton in September.

The Just Giving Page set up by friends initially set a target of £5,000 towards helping her parents repatriate their daughter's body and pay towards the funeral costs, but more than £14,000 has so far been pledged.

Paying tribute to his sister on Facebook, Ben Bonekyn, wrote: "The events have left a hole that will never be refilled. Rest in peace my beautiful little sister."

In a statement to the Advertiser, founder of the fundraising campaign Ashley Burrows said: "When we heard the news of her death, we were devastated and shocked and because the accident happened on the other side of the world, we also felt helpless.

"Many of us have lived in the area for more than 25 years and watched our children grow up together, so we thought about how we could help her family get through this difficult time and came up with a fundraising campaign to ensure they had the funds to travel to Australia and bring her home without any financial difficulty."

She added: "We set up the page and the love for Bryony did the rest."

"In 24 hours people who knew her, loved her or just wanted to help gave so generously that we doubled our target, but we are keeping the Just Giving page going as a tribute to her life and the wonderful things she achieved and hoped to do. "Her family are incredibly grateful to everyone for their support and we will all be there for them when they bring Bryony home."

Hidden knives seized from hollowed-out tree in park

GANGS have been hiding knives in a hollowed-out tree close to a children's play area and outdoor basketball courts in a park, it has been revealed.

The weapons were discovered concealed inside the tree at Ducketts Common, near Turnpike Lane, by police officers from the safer neighbourhood team, – and last week London's deputy mayor for policing Stephen Greenhalgh was at the park with a detective from the Met Police's specialist gangs unit as officers carried out another weapons sweep in which a kitchen knife was found.

The special press call was also held to highlight the introduction of the new two strikes legislation which means repeat offenders caught carrying a knife for a second time face a mandatory six-month prison sentence.

Mr Greenhalgh said he hoped that the new legislation would be a deterrent while Detective Chief Superintendent Dean Haydon, head of Trident Gang Command, reiterated that tackling knife crime was a key priority for the Met.

Schools saddle up to take part in battle of the bicycles

PEDAL power propelled pupils to victory in a series of cycling challenges which involved six Haringey primary schools and included sprints and racing over rough terrain.

About 150 children from North Haringay, Muswell Hill, Chestnuts, Coleridge, Risley Avenue and St Aidan's schools saddled up to compete in grass track racing, time trials, hill climbs and off-road courses.

And in the grand finale last week at Bruce Castle Park, Risley, in The Roundway, Tottenham, stormed to victory with North Haringay finishing runners-up and St Aidan's grabbing third spot.

She said: "It was fantastic to see so many pupils taking part in this year's Schools Cycling League with such enthusiasm."

"Activities such as this are a great way of encouraging our children to take up a fun and healthy hobby that they can enjoy long into the future."

Concerns as school gets the green light

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A GARDEN centre bought by the council for hundreds of thousands of pounds is set to be turned into a school for children who have been permanently excluded.

The new pupil referral unit on the site of the Orchardside Nurseries, in Bullsmoor Lane, Enfield, will cater for about 100 pupils aged between 11 and 16 who are either at risk of being permanently excluded from school or have already been excluded.

Two years ago the local authority paid £900,000 to buy the site – a decision which was criticised by members of the Tory group on the council for being too high a price to pay.

Planning permission for the pupil referral centre, which will cover 2,583 square metres of land, was granted at a meeting of Enfield Council's planning committee last Tuesday.

Despite objections from residents in the Forty Hall Conservation Area, that a school would see rush-hour traffic grind to a standstill along the road, officers recommended that planning permission be granted.

In a report presented to councillors last week, the plan detailed that the site will have parking space for 28 cars, two minibuses and service vehicles as well as 28 bicycles.

In council hands: The garden centre site was brought for £900,000

The proposals state that outside of school hours, between 7am and 6pm, the site would be used "by the wider community".

Although concerns about the impact on the conservation area were raised by residents in the course of a public consultation, a statement from Historic England gave the plans the thumbs-up.

Its report, giving feedback on the plans, said: "The proposed scheme will arguably have a minimal impact on the significance of surrounding designated heritage assets due to the limited views into the site particularly from Capel Manor and the Pied Bull public house."

One of the matters raised by residents who replied to the public consultation was: "How can a school for disruptive pupils be located next to a primary school?"

The new school will be next door to Capel Manor Primary.

However, a spokesman for the council, the education authority in charge of the school, has said that the tuition centre "works to effectively reintegrate children into mainstream schools or provide an alternative educational support setting".

Man accused of attacking police officer with knife

A MAN charged with the attempted murder of a police officer in Enfield was remanded in custody when he appeared at Wood Green Crown Court on Monday.

Femi Gbadamosi is accused of attacking the officer with a knife at an address in Leda Avenue, Enfield Highway on July 10. The 25-year-old is also charged with possession of an offensive weapon.

He was committed to Wood Green Crown Court after being remanded at a hearing at Highbury Magistrates' Court on July 13.

He is due back in court for a plea and case management hearing on October 1.

Stabbing victim taken to hospital

A MAN was taken to hospital by ambulance on Monday morning after being stabbed in the chest.

Police were called to Hertford Road at 10.40am to reports of a man suffering from stab wounds.

The victim, a man in his 20s, was taken to an east London hospital to be treated for a single stab wound to the chest.

A man was arrested at the scene.

He was taken to a north London hospital to be treated for minor injuries.

Chickenshed's new recruits

CHICKENSHEDE Theatre put a spring in the step of folk from an organisations for older people last week.

Ten members of the Ruth Winston Centre, a group which aims to promote independence, well-being and activities for the over-50s, in Green Lanes, Palmers Green, together with 10 members of the Palmers Green and Southgate U3A (the University of the Third Age) visited the theatre, in Chase Side, Southgate, to tour the building and try out music, drama and dance classes in special workshops.

"The aim was to bring our organisations together and engage a new audience with the variety of activities going on at Chickenshed," explained spokeswoman for the theatre Susan Jamson.

The event also included a talk by long-standing Chickenshed volunteer Stuart Somerville, followed by tea and cakes.

"The visiting group also gave Chickenshed a donation – and five of them signed up on the spot to join the community choir or adult workshops, so it was a hugely successful day," Susan added.

Cholmeley visits his local

MP David Burrowes and his labrador Cholmeley are backing a competition to find the UK's most dog-friendly places.

The MP for Enfield and Southgate visited The Woodman pub, in Bourne Hill, Southgate, to show his support for the contest organised by The Kennel Club.

The pub welcomes dogs and children and Mr Burrowes and his cherished pooch met the landlord Simon Davison and his labrador, Charlie.

The competition, now in its ninth year, is part of the Be Dog Friendly campaign, which aims to break down barriers for man's best friend by encouraging more businesses and public spaces to welcome dogs through their doors.

"With more than nine million dogs in the UK and about one in four households owning a dog, the great British public are always on the lookout for places where their four-legged family members are also welcome, and the Be Dog Friendly Awards recognise businesses and places to visit that go the extra mile for our canine companions," said Mr Burrowes.

"I am delighted that local businesses in my constituency want me to bring my dog Cholmeley along and I will be looking for more dog-friendly businesses to get involved," he added.

The competition runs until September 15 and to recommend and vote for your favourite dog-friendly places or businesses, visit www.bedogfriendlyawards.co.uk

Café's shining example (whatever the weather)

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A COMMUNITY café staffed entirely by volunteers has celebrated its first birthday – with organisers calling on more people to get involved with the not-for-profit enterprise.

Ema Mortimer and Sarah Cotton started up the Greenery Café in a converted toilet block in Broomfield Park, in Palmers Green, on June 4 2014 and despite a break-in a few months after opening, resulting in hundreds of pounds worth of damage, the pair persevered are now celebrating their first year of business.

Come rain or shine, it opens on Wednesdays and weekends throughout the year and the pair, with the help of fellow volunteers, have raised £5,000 towards other community projects in the park with £1,000 each going to the Community Orchard, the Conservatory, the Growing Space and the Friends of Broomfield Park as well as ploughing £1,000 back into the café.

And the highlights? "The Palmers Green Festival 2014 was great fun, we were on our feet for hours and never stopped but loved every minute of it," Ema told the Advertiser.

"And through the netball seasons we serve lovely netballers which make the coldest of days bearable.

"Then, of course, there was our first birthday on June 4.

"We wanted to celebrate and thank our volunteers and customers alike so

Many happy returns: Palmers Green Community Cafe has celebrated its first anniversary, thanks to volunteers including, inset, Vicky Newell, Sue Cook and Maddie Stocker for the whole birthday week all our hot drinks were free – and then at the end of the week we had birthday picnic.

"It was lovely. The sun shone, lots of people came and we also used this opportunity to donate our profits back into Broomfield Park."

Ema stresses that all of the successes of the café would not have been possible without the army of volunteers who make sure the netballers, joggers, cyclists, dog walkers and families out for a breath of fresh air have a steady stream of hot drinks and light bites to fuel them through their adventures.

Ema added: "We are always on the lookout for new people to join us, young and old. You need to be able to stand for a couple of hours and like working with the public, but really all you need to bring is a smile."

Anyone keen to help out by volunteering at the cafe can log on to: <http://www.friendsofbroomfieldpark.org/cafe.php> to ask about opportunities and register their interest.

Invitation to local voluntary and community organisation to bid to co-locate with a local library

The Council has agreed an exciting Library Development Strategy to safeguard the future of libraries in the borough. As part of the strategy, the Council is seeking partner organisations from the voluntary and community sector to share the space at one of 3 libraries in the borough:

- Bullsmoor
- Enfield Island Village
- Ponders End

The Council will continue to run the library element of the space, providing a combination of staff and volunteers, IT equipment and resources. The co-location partner will be expected to bring added value services to the local community in support of the Council's strategic aims, open and close the building in line with agreed opening hours and facilitate universal access to the library service.

The bidding partner must be able to evidence how its proposal meets the following criteria:

- A locally focussed voluntary sector or community organisation that has an approved constitution or Memorandum and Articles of Association with a formally appointed Management Committee and fit for purpose policies and procedures
- Financial sustainability
- Delivering added value to the library for the benefit of the local community by meeting the Council's strategic aims of Fairness for All, Growth and Sustainability and Strong Communities with clear outcome measures
- Enhance the library service offer and support their objectives of:
  - ensuring universal access to the range of people who currently use libraries
  - supporting learning and skills
  - addressing digital and social exclusion
  - a co-ordinating centre for accessing information, advice and services

The agreement is expected to last two years from 1 January 2016 although Ponders End is subject to agreed timescales for the regeneration scheme.

An open day for prospective bidders is being held 10am-1pm on 19 August 2015 at the Dugdale Centre, Thomas Hardy House, 39 London Road, Enfield, EN2 6DS.

Civil War at Forty Hall as rivals battle it out!

Taking aim: Cavalier foot soldiers fire their muskets during the Forty Hall re-enactment

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

THE roar of cannons, the crackle of muskets, the clash of armour and the beating of drums thrilled spectators as Roundheads clashed with Cavaliers on Saturday in the spectacular surroundings of Enfield's Jacobean mansion, Forty Hall.

The authentic depiction of a battle from the English Civil War was staged by Sir Marmaduke Rawdon's Regiment of Foote – a re-enactment society which puts on historically accurate displays.

The skirmishes between musketeers and pikemen performed by the costumed participants brought alive a turbulent period of 17th-century history in which the country was split into those who supported King Charles I (Royalists) and those supported Parliament (Parliamentarians).

Sir Marmaduke, from whom the group takes its name, was a successful merchant, former MP and staunch Royalist, who raised his own foot troop and fled his mansion in Hoddesdon, Hertfordshire, to fight for the King.

Hundreds of spectators enjoyed drill displays of pike and musket before watching a full-scale skirmish recreating the sounds, smells and drama of battle.

Children were also able to have a go at a "kiddie drill".

The event, in the grounds of the mansion in Forty Hill, had been scheduled to include a military encampment on Sunday when the public could experience the life of a soldier, smell the woodsmoke of a campfire and watch food being cooked in 17th-century fashion, as well as try on and learn about the armour and weapons used, but heavy showers forced its cancellation.

These routes were made for cycling

On her bike: Ruth McKee leads a group of intrepid cyclists

EVEN torrential rain could not dampen the spirits of a group of cyclists gathered at the Lee Valley White Water Centre to test out a series of cycle routes launched just in time for the traditionally damp British summer.

As the rain pelted down, the eager bikers, some better equipped for the soggy conditions than others, set off from the centre, in Waltham Cross, on one of the new routes through the Lee Valley Regional Park.

With ten new routes launched across the flat expanse that runs alongside either side of the River Lea and Lee Navigation, those at the helm of promoting cycling in the park are hoping that families, young people and even novice cyclists will come in their droves to have a go.

The park stretches for 26 miles from Stratford, in east London, all the way up to Stanstead Abbots, in Hertfordshire, and although some of the routes beside the river descend into rocky paths, suitable for only the sturdiest of mountain bike tyres, as you reach the northern stretches the new cycling-specific routes are designed to be as accessible as possible.

However, a word of warning for those cyclists who prize their slick-tyred road bikes – in pouring rain, on some of the smoother surfaces by the river, grippy tyres and slightly sturdier bikes are recommended.

Reporter Ruth McKee samples the delights of riding her bike in the rain

In a spirit of generosity, the Advertiser's photographer did not snap this reporter as I made what must have been quite a spectacular plummet to the ground as I tried an ill-advised turn on a bricked pathway beside one of the locks, that, to be fair to the cycling team, was a little off-piste.

Agreeing that maybe bringing my light and slight commuting steed to the park's rugged byways was not the best of ideas, cycling development officer Matt Ewings recommended "a mountain bike, or a hybrid, or something with a slither fatter tyre".

After my spectacular fall, his words of advice are duly noted.

But why have dedicated cycle routes through the park? Surely, with the right kit and the right tyres, and possibly in my case the right protective padding, in theory nowhere is off limits to cyclists?

"Well, we want to make the park more a destination for people," Matt explained. "We want to get people to come in and enjoy our wide open spaces and that means making the park as accessible as possible for people to come and enjoy it."

And part of that accessibility drive means that cycling in the park is not limited to the hardy few who compete for space on the paths with families keener to walk or picnic – a dedicated space for biking families, novices and children on bikes will mean that everyone can jump on their bikes for a quick spin, Matt added.

The ten routes, between Stratford and Stanstead Abbots, range from concrete to "firm gravel" paths.

"Along these routes – we have tried to make sure everything is there to allow people to have an enjoyable day out – so we've designed the routes to make sure there are enough rest stops, toilet facilities, cafes, and even free car parking," said Matt.

"Families can all get out on the paths together and they don't need to worry about traffic or anything."

Even with a slightly disappointing August looming, the cycle routes that weave in and out of an expanse of green space on the edge of London that is often overlooked could be just the ticket for entertaining slightly stir crazy families over a damp summer break.

Arsonist gets life sentence for attack on family's home

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A MAN has been given an indeterminate life sentence after being convicted of setting fire to a home in Enfield Lock and endangering the lives of a couple and their children.

Romano Smith, 46, from Waltham Abbey, was sentenced at Wood Green Crown Court on Monday for arson with intent to endanger life, with a minimum tariff of four-and-a-half years before he is considered for release.

Sentencing came after Smith had pleaded guilty to the charge at an earlier hearing in June.

On March 8 this year, a 25-year-old man, a 24-year-old woman and two children, aged one and five, escaped from their home in St Stephen's Road after they were woken by smoke and flames coming from the front of the house where Smith had started a fire. With their way to the front door blocked by the blaze, the man and woman had to drop the two children from the first floor to neighbours waiting on the ground below before jumping to safety themselves.

All four suffered smoke inhalation, with the 25-year-old father-of-two needing hospital treatment for several days.

Smith had started the fire after a disagreement with the man over some work they had done together.

The Crown Prosecution Service's senior prosecutor for London Nicola Wood said: "This was a serious case of arson endangering the lives of four people, including two children under the age of six, which could have had tragic consequences.

"At CPS London we are committed to working with our police partners to tackle this type of crime and make the capital a safer place."

CCG chief set to step down

HEALTH chief Liz Wise is leaving after three years with the Enfield Clinical Commissioning Group.

She spearheaded the introduction of the CCG, which plans hospital care as well as commissioning rehabilitation services, pharmacies, opticians and dental and GP services. It also serves as a membership body for 54 GP practices in the borough and arranges meetings with the public.

Ms Wise oversaw investments of more than £100million in helping to reorganise hospital care across key sites including Chase Farm, in The Ridgeway, Enfield, where a new urgent care centre was opened after the closure of the accident and emergency department.

Ms Wise said she was particularly proud of improvements to services for older people through setting up a special assessment unit.

She added: "I am also especially pleased about the rebuild of Chase Farm and look forward to a new, modern hospital providing high-quality healthcare for Enfield patients.

"I leave knowing that we are already on the way towards achieving our vision of commissioning services that improve the health and wellbeing of Enfield residents."

Ms Wise's new role will be as programme director for primary care for the Healthy London Partnership Programme, a collaborative project bringing together 32 clinical commissioning groups in London and NHS England.

Paul Jenkins, who has had a number of senior executive roles in the NHS and is currently with the Southwark Clinical Commissioning Group, will be taking over the post left vacant by Ms Wise's departure.

Chickenshed Theatre

THE school summer holidays have begun and, at the moment, the weather isn't looking too good! Don't worry because there is plenty for youngsters to do at Chickenshed over the next two weeks.

Darnaby's Space Race, our Tales from the Shed annual summer show, opens tomorrow and runs until Saturday August 8.

Children up to the age of six and their families will love this wonderful tale of an unlikely superhero taking on a delegation of aliens in a race to save the day – taking takes us on a thrilling intergalactic rollercoaster to a world of imaginative delight.

During the next two weeks we are also running Space Race workshops for children aged five to 12. These half-day workshops give children an exciting backstage experience using music, drama, puppetry movement. This year we have introduced a separate show for very young children based on the space theme.

Planet Play, on August 6 and 7, will give the youngest children an opportunity to join our Tales team for a fun and interactive sensory session.

Our annual week-long Summer Shed workshops are also in full swing with children aged five to 12 participating each day from 10am to 4pm. Parents and friends will be invited into the theatre on the final Friday to see a performance of song, dance and drama, created by the children.

So, as you can see, it doesn't matter about the weather outside – come and join us for an exciting summer of fun and laughter.

Heathrow remains the only option for Londoners

LETTERS calling for no expansion at Heathrow (Advertiser, July 15) were characterised by a telling absence of proposals to deal with air traffic demand in the next 50 years.

Not helpful, but could it really be true that there are no viable solutions?

The Roskill study into inland and estuary airport options more than 40 years ago found no compelling argument to move London's air travel base away out of town.

Howard Davis's study has broken no new ground because there is no affordable alternative but to enlarge an existing airport. Which to choose is not difficult – the site best suited to meet demand.

Geographical site limitations and passenger demand have not changed in essence – only the pressure to enlarge capacity. Avoiding these facts by waving a green flag does not trump the fundamentals. Fortunately, technology is helping us through this crisis in terms of pollution. Even today's planes are a big leap ahead of a generation ago.

London's population seeks more not less travel, and not only for business purposes. The growing population wants to retain contacts with family and friends in their many countries of origin. Who is to tell them to get used to phoning instead? To infer that inhabitants of Europe's greatest city should reduce their travelling inclinations is to advance philosophy over practical politics.

Infrastructure is the backbone of our existence and must advance. Heathrow will be enlarged. The only question now is how long the filibuster will be permitted to run.

Bold steps are needed to reduce traffic levels

SUMMER is in full swing and many Londoners are hopping on their bikes, taking advantage of the seasonal dip in traffic to stretch their legs on calmer streets.

With fewer cars on the roads, London temporarily becomes a safer and more appealing place to cycle and take in your surroundings on the way to work or the shops.

For the rest of the year, however, this isn't the case. Despite the mayor's talk of a cycling revolution, he is planning for big increases in vehicle traffic across London in years to come.

His decision to relax parking controls in outer London and sign off £28 billion of road construction schemes will mean more cars clogging up the streets, not fewer.

His failure to deliver six of the 12 cycle superhighways he promised Londoners shows he really hasn't done enough to create practical alternatives to using a car.

To address the air pollution and congestion crises London is facing, the next mayor should take bold steps to cut the number of vehicles on the streets.

Pledging an end to major road building and delivering a network of safe and direct cycle lanes without endless dither and delay would be a start.

New thinking on cycle plan

THE council is trying to find a way to add cycle lanes to Green Lanes and make it safe for cyclists, cars and pedestrians.

How about this for a brand new approach? Leave Green Lanes alone and put cycle lanes down the side of the New River. It runs parallel to Green Lanes all the way down to the North Circular – much less complicated, and a nice peaceful ride.

Proms in park proved popular

THE fourth and final concert from the Friends of Broomfield Park's new Proms in the Park series was unfortunately cancelled due to rain on Sunday.

The range of music over the previous three weeks, spanning opera to modern indie pop, with various performances covering other genres such as folk, a brass band, flute, drumming and even a choir, proved immensely popular with the audiences, who called for a repeat in 2016.

Thanks are required to a great many people, performers and the Proms' sponsor, Bennet & Walden, who willingly gave their time, money and talents to enable large numbers of people to experience quality music without cost, as well as share and enjoy the relaxing elements and community enhancing aspects of Proms.

Help the BHF, help yourself!

Having a ball: Gymnastics star Beth Tweddle and friends

I AM writing to ask you and your readers to join me in supporting the British Heart Foundation's Schools events.

You can take part in physical activity that is fun, rewarding and heart healthy. The activities will raise money for your school, as well as contribute to lifesaving research into heart disease.

I am urging schools in the South East to take part in a sponsored Skipathon or game of Ultimate Dodgeball in aid of the fight against heart disease.

These events promote the importance of maintaining a healthy heart through regular exercise while raising funds for the BHF's lifesaving work into the fight against heart disease.

The scheme also allows schools and youth groups to keep 20 per cent of the money they have raised, which they can put towards new equipment and resources to benefit their children.

Last year, BHF's school events raised an amazing £711,221. This year, we want to top this total and with your help we can.

Heart and circulatory conditions are responsible for nearly 22,000 deaths in the South East each year – that's more than 60 people every single day.

We are asking people in the South East to sign up today and help the BHF to continue to save lives.

To find out more and to sign up, visit bhf.org.uk/schools-event

Attention: DENTURE REPAIRS

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!!
If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:

- Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
- Are they loose?
- Do not cut food as well as they used to?
- Do they make your face look older?
- Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
- Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist.

The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements.

A more direct, rapid and personalised service, that can be delivered to you in the comfort of your own home or at my day clinic in Edmonton.

Fatal knife attack: Three men charged

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THREE men charged with the murder of a model and teaching assistant will appear in the Old Bailey in October.

Michael Adegbite, 28, from Chingford, died from a single stab wound to the chest in Lackmore Road, Bulls Moor, just after 7.30pm on Sunday, July 19.

Bystanders performed first aid and the London air ambulance arrived, but Mr Adegbite died at the scene.

Zoe Cuson, the headteacher of the Heathcote School, in Chingford, where he had worked, said: "We were extremely saddened to hear about the death of Michael Adegbite. Our thoughts are with his family and friends at this time."

As well as working as a football coach and personal trainer at Leyton Leisure Centre, the sports science graduate was also doing some modelling work.

Monel Ajayi, 18, of Waltham Cross, Issac Owen-Brady, 18, of Blossom Lane, Enfield, and Christopher Nzeh, from Hitchin, Hertfordshire, have been charged with murder and conspiracy to rob.

Nzeh has also been charged with possession of an offensive weapon.

They have been remanded in custody and are due to appear for a plea and case management hearing on October 12.

In the frame: A CCTV image released by police following the attempt to break into the cash machine

Witnesses sought after station break-in

TWO 24-year-old men arrested on suspicion of attempting to break into a cash machine in a train station in June were due to return on bail to a police station yesterday.

The men were arrested by officers from British Transport Police on June 23 on suspicion of burglary after a group of men tried to break into the safe of the cash point in the wall outside Enfield Chase train station, in Windmill Hill, Enfield, on June 15.

Earlier this month, Network Rail bosses announced that they would be offering a reward of £1,000 to anyone who could provide information that would help capture the six men British Transport Police believe stole into the station under the cover of darkness disguised as rail workers in orange high-visibility clothing. The would-be thieves then used boards to barricade themselves inside the foyer of the station hall while they tried to break into the safe with a range of power tools.

The boards barring the entrance remained in place as rush hour dawned and while a few early commuters were able to break through into the station, many passengers were forced to find other means of getting to work as forensics teams cordoned off the station.

British Transport Police are still appealing for anyone with information to get in touch by calling 0800 40 50 40, or by texting 61016, quoting E/B5 of 15/06/2015.

Alternatively, anonymous information can be given to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Distressing: Elena Sideri-Costa inspects one of the vandalised minibuses

Heartless vandals target minibuses

Slashed tyres leave autistic adults without transport

By Julia Gregory

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

VANDALS slashed tyres and snapped off the wing mirrors of three minibuses used by adults with learning disabilities – leaving them distressed after their horse-riding and picnicking outings had to be cancelled.

The minibuses were parked in spaces leased by St Mark's Social Education Services, which offers activities for people with learning difficulties.

The damage – to 12 tyres and two wing mirrors – was spotted when staff arrived at work to pick up the vehicles for the regular daily journeys to collect adults for the day.

They got to the car park in Roman Way, Bush Hill Park, at 8am on Friday and believe the rampage took place overnight after 5pm on Thursday.

The damaged tyres have been replaced.

Elena Sideri-Costa, who manages the service, said: "It's so distressing for the people who come here. We just wanted people to be aware of the impact of what's happened."

She said that changes to routine upset the people who use the four centres – the one in Roman Way, plus others in Dryden Road, Millais Road, and Percival Road, also in Bush Hill Park.

The minibuses are used to collect the 68 people who use them throughout the week.

The vandalism meant that staff used their own cars to bring them to the centres, but the group outings had to be cancelled.

Mrs Sideri-Costa added: "People with autism do not harm anybody, they are innocent people. "We have had neighbours come and knock on the door and say they are very distressed."

Service users and their families helped to raise funds to reach the £11,000 needed to buy one of the minibuses.

Police are investigating the incident and have advised managers to prepare letters appealing for neighbours to come forward if they witnessed anything unusual.

Man 'smashed windows at police station'

POLICE officers escaped unhurt after a man smashed the windows at Edmonton police station.

He is also reported to have used a hammer to break glass which separates police from the public at the station, in Fore Street.

The incident happened shortly after 9am on Friday. A 24-year-old man has been arrested and has been released on police bail until September.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

Friends agree a Bounty-ful tribute to ex-lock keeper

By Julia Gregory

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A SECTION of the River Lee Navigation has been renamed in honour of a former lock keeper – to coincide with his 86th birthday.

Picketts Lock, in Edmonton, has been given the new moniker of Alfie's Lock, in honour of Alfie Saggs, who started work as the lock keeper in the 1980s and retired from the post in 1999.

The Canal and River Trust, which looks after the lock, has put up a temporary sign at the request of Alfie's family and the boating community.

And a separate hand-painted notice also asks boaters to donate a Bounty chocolate bar to him in return for their safe passage.

He is famed for his love of the sweet and gets through two dozen a week.

The notice says: "In accordance with the British Waterways Act 1839, every boat navigating this lock shall provide Alfie Saggs lock keeper with a Bounty bar placed in the box above. By order."

Alfie was a familiar sight helping boaters through the lock, off Picketts Lock Lane, from 7am before finishing his duties at about 8pm.

He still lives in the lock house and is a popular character with people using the towpath and canal.

His daughter Karen said: "His friend made a box for Bounty bars. That came about because he's always had this catch phrase, 'What have you got for me?' and people would give him doughnuts or sweets. You should see how many Bounty bars he's been given!"

Friends and family gathered to celebrate the renaming and Alfie said: "It knocked me over with joy, it was the best day ever."

His brother David was lock keeper at Cheshunt and Alfie enjoyed visiting so much he was inspired to apply for a similar post.

The former coal man and paper mill worker loves the canal – although Karen said he had never been on a canal boat throughout his 33 years at the lock.

One of his friends, boater Jacqui Shannon, who helped organise the sign unveiling and barbecue, said: "Alfie was utterly thrilled with the sign."

The Canal and River Trust towpath ranger Dick Vincent said: "Alfie is a legend on our part of the Lee. His family told us he's not been very well recently and asked if there was any way we could recognise his amazing contribution to the area."

He added: "Most people know this lock as Alfie's Lock anyway, so it was a no-brainer."

"It's been really popular with boaters and everyone who turned out to celebrate Alfie's birthday."

"The sign is temporary. It'll revert back to Picketts Lock in a month, but hopefully that'll be plenty of time for people passing through to see the signs and hopefully learn about Alfie and all that he has done here."

Women are minding their own business

By Shafi Musaddique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A SCHEME launched to help women start their own businesses came to an end for another year last week, ushering in a new generation of entrepreneurs.

Graduates of the 2015 RSA Trust Inspiring Women Programme celebrated with a lunch and presentation ceremony at the Royal Chace Hotel, in The Ridgeway, Enfield.

Now in its eighth year, the programme, which is run by Enfield Enterprise, has helped more than 150 women to develop skills ranging from business planning, to use of social media.

Among them is Maja Dimova-Handley, 39, of Chase Side, Enfield, who has been self-employed since 2009 when she first set up her company offering bespoke designs and materials for home furnishing. She was mentored by Enterprise Enfield and said the scheme had transformed her group to feel empowered and engaged with running a business and had helped her finally to make progress.

"Meeting other women kept me driven and as a group of women, we were no longer isolated in trying to run a business," she said. "Being able to rely on support has put everything into perspective and I cannot recommend it highly enough".

Alan Sitkin, Enfield Council's cabinet member for economic regeneration and business development, congratulated this year's graduates, adding: "The council is doing everything it can to encourage women to start up new businesses in the borough by facilitating excellent training and business support."

WHO'S GOT THE POWER?

By Debbie Stimson, Legal Adviser at Stennett Solicitors and Affiliate of the Society of Trusts and Estates Practitioners

I recently dealt with a dispute over the right to see an elderly mother. Joan (not her real name) had two children Peggy and Tom. Peggy was estranged from her mother and learnt that Joan was in a local authority care home suffering from dementia. When Peggy arrived at the home she was denied entry. The manager told her that Tom had written to them saying Peggy would try to remove Joan from the home and cause her upset by demanding money.

When Peggy complained to Social Services about her treatment an officer asked Tom about his allegations. He withdrew them but said his mother would be upset by seeing Peggy and since he was Joan's sole attorney under a lasting power of attorney he could decide who she could see. Using this information the care home continued to refuse Peggy seeing her mum.

For over a year Peggy tried to reason with her brother but to no avail. She turned to Stennett & Stennett Solicitors for help. We wrote to Tom and the manager of the care home informing them the power of attorney could not prevent Peggy from having contact with her mother because it only covered property and financial affairs, and since Joan did not have a lasting power of attorney for health and welfare, they had no right to prevent Peggy from having contact.

Unfortunately Joan had suffered a stroke by the time the care home accepted Peggy had a right to contact and Joan could not recognise her daughter when they met. The firm helped Peggy with a complaint to the Local Government Ombudsman. The Ombudsman found maladministration by the Council and ordered it to give a full written apology to Peggy and pay £5,000 in recognition of the distress it caused her.

When planning for the future always consider making a lasting power of attorney to manage your health and welfare in addition to your property and financial affairs, especially when there are issues within the family. This makes it certain who can decide your care needs and what they can and cannot do.

Stennett Solicitors specialise in powers of attorney for ageing relatives. Call us on 020 8920 3190 if you have a question or you can attend one of our free advice clinics held on the first Wednesday in every month.

Views canvassed on waste and recycling

By Shafi Musaddique
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS are being urged to take part in discussions about a new plan to reduce the amount of waste which goes into landfill sites and to improve recycling across north London.

The North London Waste Plan will see seven neighbouring boroughs come together to identify new landfill and waste management sites, as well as outlining possible ways to reuse waste collected across areas including Enfield.

Despite the arduous task of disposing of waste from 1.9 million people living across its catchment area, the North London Waste Authority is hoping to reduce the amount of rubbish it sends to landfill by 35 per cent by 2020.

Alan Sitkin, Enfield Council's cabinet member for economic regeneration and business development, urged Enfield businesses and residents to have their say.

He said: "Local authorities have a statutory duty to prepare waste plans and it is crucial that we get as much public input as possible. This consultation is an initial opportunity for everyone to influence the process."

A drop-in sessions for Enfield residents will take place on Wednesday September 9 at Green Towers Community Centre, Plevna Road, Edmonton, between 6pm and 8pm.

'Statutory duty's: Councillor Alan Sitkin

Libraries shut for self-service work

By Shafi Musaddique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

FOUR of the borough's libraries will close temporarily so the latest self-service technology can be installed.

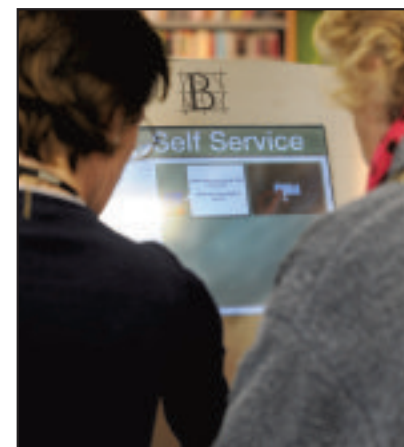

The automated service, which allows users to take out and return books on their own, has already been installed in 13 of the borough's libraries, with those upgrades being carried out during normal closing hours.

However, the final phase of the improvements beginning on Monday August 16 will require, Edmonton Green library, in South Mall, Oakwood library, in Bramley Road, Winchmore Hill library, in Green Lanes, and Southgate Circus library, in High Street, to close for a short period as the work is completed.

The schedule is as follows:

Edmonton Green library – closed from Monday August 17 to Friday August 21 before reopening as normal from Saturday August 22; Oakwood library – closed from Monday August 24 to Wednesday August 26 before reopening as normal from Thursday August 27; Winchmore Hill library – closed from Wednesday September 2 to Friday September 4 before reopening as normal from Saturday September 5; and Southgate Circus library – closed from Monday September 7 to Wednesday September 9 before reopening as normal from Thursday September 10.

"We have taken care to plan these works, only closing on days as necessary and using days when the libraries are not open to the public," said Ayfer Orhan, Enfield Council's cabinet member for education, children's services and protection. "We have also ensured that closures take place on days that do not have any special activity planned."

Help yourself: Four libraries will be closed for a few days while the automated technology is installed

"Self-service works well in the libraries where it is already installed," she added.

"Not only does it speed up the time it takes to check out items and prevent queues, but it also frees up time for staff to help users find books, deal with IT enquiries, advise on services and check stock."

Beating the drums for new sixth-form

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

AFRICAN drumming, dance performances, songs from West End musicals and operatic excerpts reverberated through the assembly hall of a secondary school last Thursday.

The students at Aylward Academy, in Windmill Road, Edmonton, marked their annual Gladys Aylward Day in style, with the celebration of the life of the woman after whom the school is named coinciding with the official opening of a new sixth-form centre.

Patrick Robinson, director of community learning, said: "Gladys was a remarkable woman and the pupils at the school strive to share the same values as her. For example, because the students at the school understand how much she valued education, they have raised more than £2,000 to help build a school in Ghana."

The academy was formed in 2010 when the former Aylward School was taken out of local authority control.

The school kept the same name, due in part Mr Robinson said, to demand from the community to preserve the connection with the former Edmonton resident and Christian missionary in China.

Born in Edmonton in 1902, Miss Aylward went to the then Silver Street school, not far from the current site of the academy.

She fulfilled a lifelong ambition in 1930 when she set off to the Far East. After she had set up a home in China for orphaned children and wounded soldiers, the Japanese authorities put a bounty on her head as the second Sino-Japanese War was raging.

To avoid capture, she fled with nearly 100 children across mountainous terrain and the Yellow River to reach the relative safety of Siam (Thailand).

Mr Robinson added: "One of the most important values the school tries to embody is inclusivity."

"We hope that by doing things that celebrate the achievements of pupils and opening this out to the wider community, everyone can feel included."

Gesturing towards a recently unveiled sculpture of her by one of the school's alumni, Gavin Keating, who is currently studying fine art at the University of Hertfordshire, Mr Robinson stressed that the day was about marking the achievements of all pupils who had succeeded in honouring Miss Aylward's memory.

The afternoon of celebration continued with a performance by year 9 dance students, a rendition of Summertime, from the musical Porgy and Bess, by Eloise Larkin-Hinds and a performance of opera classic O Sole Mio by 19-year-old mezzo-soprano Giulia Laudano.

Don't Make it Easy for Burglars

Lighter evenings and warmer weather can tempt burglars to try their luck with open windows and doors

- Ensure the PVC windows and doors are securely LOCKED and not just closed.
- Don't advertise your holiday plans to burglars on social media.
- If you are out in the back garden, ensure that your front door is securely locked.
- When you leave a room unattended, close the windows and doors - especially on the ground floor.
- If you want to leave windows open while you sleep, fit window restrictors so they cannot be fully opened.
- Keep all wallets, purses, credit cards, car keys and other valuables out of sight.

High times for festival-goers

By Shafi Musaddique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A NEW “building” soared into the skies of Edmonton on Saturday – only to be dismantled again on the same day.

This year’s Edmonton Summer Festival saw revellers lending a hand to create a temporary 14-metre-tall cardboard building in Pymmes Park.

Dubbed The People’s Tower, it was assembled without the use of cranes or machines over the course of seven hours.

Both children and adults got their teeth into binding boxes with tape to create the tower, inspired by 1960s’ architecture to aptly mark the London Borough of Enfield’s 50th birthday.

The construction towered over other attractions, which included stalls and sideshows as well as a music stage with live bands.

Paul Everitt, in charge of co-ordinating the festival between Enfield Council, Millfield Arts Centre and Arts Council England, said the celebrations had “brought the community together”.

He added: “Unfortunately, we couldn’t go higher than the tallest building in Edmonton.”

Screen on the green: The film festival is finally under way after an eight-week postponement

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

A SUMMER film festival showing evening movies outdoors on a giant screen is finally set to commence on Friday having had its launch postponed twice because of unseasonal weather.

The first ever North East Enfield Summer Film Festival at The Hub in Albany Park, Enfield Lock, had been due to start eight weeks ago at the beginning of June, but chilly evenings forced organisers to reschedule the launch while slashing its run from 14 weeks to six weeks as well as reducing the programme from 50 to just 10 films.

The screenings of popular box-office blockbusters on Friday and Saturdays was planned to re-launch last weekend with movie fans enjoying Mama Mia, the romantic comedy based on Abba songs and Arnold Schwarzenegger in the original Terminator – but the weather once again put the kibosh on the alfresco experience.

And its with trepidation and fingers crossed that organisers are hoping the weather will stay fine for the double screening this Friday and Saturday which comprises a mix of sci-fi and comedy with Ridley Scott's classic 1979 sci-fi blockbuster Alien and the 2014 comedy Paddington, based on Paddington Bear, screened the following evening.

And upcoming screenings in future weeks include Dirty Dancing, 21st Jump Street, Casablanca, The Theory of Everything, The Ring, Saturday Night Fever, Selma and My Big Fat Greek Wedding.

"Unfortunately you just can't predict the British weather and we've had to delay launching because the film shows begin around 9pm and in taster viewings we did in June we had some complaints about it being too nippy," said Colin Francis, chief executive of Niburu Media, the creative production company behind the event based in Enfield Enterprise Centre, Queensway, Ponders End.

"To be honest there is not a lot going on in that part of Enfield, it's a bit of a cultural desert and we hope the film festival will encourage the community to come up with a vision and create their own cultural activities.

"In the future we hope to reflect the multi-cultural make-up of the community by also showing Turkish movies and black and African films," he added.

Single tickets cost £5 booked online and £7 at the gate. Children under 16 pay £3 and family tickets comprising two adults and two children are £15.

Tom in Cruise control

Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation
(12A, 131 mins)

ALL it testosterone-fuelled recklessness, hubris or feeling the need... the need for speed, Tom Cruise certainly puts on a show in the fifth instalment of the Mission: Impossible franchise.

He clings to the side of an airplane as it takes flight, slaloms at dizzying speed on a motorcycle and performs death-defying leaps as secret agent Ethan Hunt.

The 53-year-old star performs most of these hair-raising stunts himself, allowing writer-director Christopher McQuarrie to capture every pulse-quickening second in thrilling close-up with minimum digital trickery.

Cruise's commitment to his role puts fellow action stars to shame – unlike the films of Stallone and Schwarzenegger, the script is devoid of wry one-liners to poke fun at his advancing years.

McQuarrie, Oscar-winning screenwriter of The Usual Suspects, bookmarks slam-bang action sequences with intentionally ambiguous exchanges between rival operatives, who acknowledge the futility of their efforts as pawns in the spy game.

Their inevitable deaths will go unnoticed and fresh-faced young agents will step forward, continuing the brutal tug-of-war between political idealism and global terrorism.

The film opens with the Impossible Missions Force (IMF) hijacking a shipment of nerve gas from Chechen separatists.

(Sean Harris), targets IMF for extinction. Hunt covertly reunites with colleagues William Brandt (Jeremy Renner), Benji Dunn (Simon Pegg) and computer hacker Luther Stickell (Ving Rhames) to bring down The Syndicate using every gadget, disguise and turbo-charged

"This may very well be our last mission," Brandt tells Hunt. "Make it count."

Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation is slickly bolted together by McQuarrie and editor Eddie Hamilton (Kick-Ass, Kingsman: The Secret Service).

Turbo-charged scenes of carnage are punctuated by IMF's existential crisis in a world that regards their methods as "outdated".

Cruise somersaults, punches and tumbles through every frame without breaking sweat, while Pegg, who was pigeon-holed as comic relief in the previous instalment, steps up in a pivotal supporting role.

Ferguson's ice maiden doesn't thaw sufficiently under Cruise's smouldering gaze to kindle on-screen chemistry, but her femme fatale snaps several limbs and necks in impressive hand-to-hand combat sequences.

Humour is used sparingly to diffuse tension, leaving us hungry for another explosion of IMF antics to the pulsating rhythm of Lalo Schiffrin's iconic theme.

On this evidence, Mission: Impossible and its gung-ho leading man won't be self-destructing any time soon.

Released: July 30
RATING: 7.5/10

Turbo-charged: Tom Cruise as Ethan Hunt.

Soon after, CIA director Alan Hunley (Alec Baldwin) succeeds in shutting down IMF for a total disregard of protocol, which led to the destruction of the Kremlin in the previous film.

The hunters become the hunted when a shadowy organisation known as the Syndicate, fronted by Solomon Lane vehicle at their disposal.

The operation brings Hunt into close contact with undercover MI6 agent Ilsa Faust (Rebecca Ferguson) and her slippery handler (Simon McBurney), a sadistic henchman known as the Bone Doctor (Jens Hulten) and the unsuspecting British Prime Minister (Tom Hollander).

Local estate agency and New Homes marketing company Lanes has opened a new branch in Hoddesdon Town centre

Lanes now occupy a newly re-furnished 950 sq ft glass fronted sales unit in a busy location in the Pavilion Centre adjacent to Morrisons supermarket. Along with several other well established and respected brands, including Costa Coffee and Timpson, in the same location Lanes have identified how busy this part of the town centre is now with new business parks, shopping and industry having been attracted to the area in recent years.

'There is plenty of new development still to come' said sales director Alex Ward 'and we're looking forward to an influx of new properties to sell and rent over the next few years. With buyers being referred from Lanes offices in more expensive areas of London we need properties to sell in all price ranges in Hoddesdon and the surrounding areas' Alex continued 'We're positive you'll like what's on offer in terms of service levels, commission levels and prices being achieved across the market. Try us and see'

Lanes enjoy strong brand loyalty having been successfully helping people to buy and sell property in North London, Enfield, Cheshunt and Hertford for many years - and opening an office in Hoddesdon is a logical step to expand the company's network and coverage for buyers and sellers alike. As members of the National Association of Estate Agents the company's staff are assessed and qualified ensuring that Lanes' clients receive a reputable and proficient service at all times.

Property tips

Replacing old, worn or outdated carpets can transform a room instantly; however pick flooring which is classic, neutral and easy to live with. If your carpets are a pale shade consider a runner in the hallway thus avoiding muddy marks being left by not so thoughtful visitors viewing your property.

ACCURATE VALUATIONS IN ENFIELD

The main factors that affect the price achieved for your home are likely to be size, location and fittings. However, there are innumerable other variations that can add significant value.

Valuing properties in West Enfield is not like valuing properties elsewhere. There are thousands of different styles and in some roads every other property is quite different to the next. The knowledge to appreciate these differences can only be built up over time.

At Ian Gibbs, our valuers have built up that knowledge with over 35 years of valuing properties in the EN1/EN2 area and that experience heightens the chance of you realising the full potential of your greatest financial asset.

For a free, no obligation valuation please call 020 8370 4800

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1989.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'f' etc. in the advertisement.
3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, press cuttings, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are forwarded as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No. centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.
Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Third-Party Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes. Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

A happy choice for drivers

By Iain Dooley

NEW from the ground up, the HR-V is Honda's interpretation of an affordable yet premium compact SUV.

Tasked with battling with the likes of Nissan's Qashqai and Mazda's CX-3, the HR-V blends familiar Honda technology and versatility with bold design themes.

And while the 'compact' term is being bandied around, like the Japanese firm's hugely popular Jazz supermini, the HR-V is bigger than it looks. Boasting a spacious cabin, clever folding rear seats and an easily accessible load bay, it's targeted firmly at families seeking an active yet upmarket lifestyle.

Look hard enough and you can see elements of Honda's existing Civic and CR-V models in the design of this HR-V. This is a good thing, as it promotes a sense of corporate family values and the latest Honda design language is pleasingly bold for a once-conservative company. That said, many Hondas are bought on the strength of reputation, which centres around dependability and reliability. There's certainly more than a sense of those attributes in the HR-V.

Honda's Jazz is a good demonstration of the supermini done right: spacious cabin, clever packaging and thoughtfully engineered details. The HR-V is no different, as it offers owners the same trick folding rear seats from the Jazz and a cabin large enough to accommodate a three-metre-long load. Elsewhere there's more than enough oddment storage space, while head and legroom in the rear is easily a match for cars a class above.

Although famous for cars like the NSX supercar and Civic Type-R hot hatch, Honda doesn't forget its bread and butter models when it comes to driver enjoyment. Weighty steering, good ride quality over a variety of road surfaces and a comprehensively adjustable driving position all help to ensure a HR-V driver will be a happy driver.

Key to the car's appeal are its two engines, a familiar 1.6-litre diesel and new 1.5-litre petrol unit. The former is mated to a slick six-speed manual gearbox, while the latter can also be had with a city-friendly CVT auto transmission. The diesel turns the HR-V into a great all-rounder, as it's just at home on the highway as it is chugging along in the city. In petrol guise, the car is a good choice for predominately urban use and there's no questioning the CVT gearbox's role as a labour-saving device for the morning commute.

Honda doesn't 'do' bargain basement, but the HR-V strikes a good balance if you're after a premium ambience for sensible money. Standard kit levels are high, with all bar the base model getting a flash-looking colour touchscreen as part of the infotainment system. Cabin build quality is well above average, while it's hard to put a figure on Honda's long-standing reliability reputation. Modest emissions and fuel consumption performance from both engines should also do wonders for your bank balance.

Honda loyalists keen to move up from, say, a Jazz or even a Civic will no doubt be pleased by the arrival of a suitable lifestyle-focused crossover displaying familiar attributes and packing proven comfort and safety kit. Even if you're not an especially passionate Honda fan, it's difficult not to be impressed by the car's ability to offer above average levels of space despite its compact footprint and keep a firm lid on running costs. The car's Germanic build quality is also worthy of note, yet it's not short of visual character.

In print... ...or Online

We'll give you the best of both worlds...every week, all week!

In this rapidly moving technological age people are finding new ways to advertise, especially online via the internet. But contrary to what online sites are saying and common assumptions, print advertising is not dead. There are still benefits and disadvantages to both methods and the best way to succeed is to find a vehicle that covers both bases - and that's where we come in!

The Benefits of print advertising:

1. Print adverts last longer and will be seen often.
2. They will be seen by a large number of people and have the ability to hit a specific audience.
3. There is a more creative potential with print advertising.
4. There is a positive perception of newspaper advertising - it will encourage people to think the client is serious.

The Benefits of online advertising:

1. The advert content can be easily updated.
2. It's online 24/7, 12 months a year, all round the world.
3. A massive audience, with all ages now online.
4. Very quick response - you can be receiving candidates hours after posting your advert.

The Advertiser series of newspapers is distributed every week and the latest editions can be found on our website at

NORTH MIDD THWARTED

Southgate's last pair hold out to force draw

SKIPPER Tom Nicoll and his fellow bowlers were left frustrated as Southgate's last-wicket pair hung on for 10 overs to deny North Middlesex victory in the Middlesex County Cricket League Premier Division on Saturday.

Nicoll, who finished with 3-68 from 21 overs, and Connor Nurse, who took 4-50 in 22 overs, reduced Southgate from 157-5 to 164-9.

But even though they squeezed an extra over into the last hour and eight more than the minimum 58, North Midd had to settle for a six-point draw as David Woffinden and Ashley Sivarajah defied the spin duo of Nicoll and Nurse, along with the return of opening bowler Sam Webber.

As well as a number of leg before appeals, they had a couple of near-misses when Woffinden (19 not out) lofted a front-foot drive just wide of a diving mid-off and Sivarajah (20 not out) slashed Webber over the slips.

Otherwise, Nicoll enjoyed a good day as his top score of 60, coupled with Will Vanderspar's innings of 59, enabled North Midd to compile 237-9 in 62 overs after he won the toss and elected to bat first.

Evan Flowers chipped in with 34, opener Joe Cracknell made 22 and Adam Holmes finished on 24 not out.

North Midd looked on course for a 250-plus total after reaching lunch at 136-3 – but Southgate's spinners pegged them back with Mohammed Abid (4-48) and Sivarajah (2-82), operating unchanged after the break.

In reply, Southgate progressed without undue alarm to 97 for the loss of only one wicket.

But not for the first time in the match the complexion changed with the introduction of spin into the attack – until the last-ditch resistance of Woffinden and Sivarajah.

North Midd slipped from second to third place and are 14 points behind leaders Richmond with six games to go. They are at home to Ealing this Saturday.

□ Elsewhere in the county league, Hornsey romped to a convincing win at home to lowly Brentham in Division Two while Highgate extended their lead at the top of Division Three with a home victory over Harrow Town and bottom-of-the table North London took one point from a draw at South Hampstead.

Hornsey moved up to fourth place after Paul Weekes scored 47 as they reached 194-7 in 51 overs after being put into bat. They then routed the bottom team for 80 with 20 overs to spare.

Highgate moved 12 points clear after restricting Harrow Town to 222-8 in 52 overs – with Ed Foster taking 4-51 – and clinching a three-wicket win with three overs to go as Craig Gourlay cracked 75 not out off 32 balls, including seven 6s. Hashen Ramanayake contributed 53.

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

North London struggled to 142-7 in 50 overs – with Omkar Hashing 41 not out – in reply to South Hampstead's 233-8 – with Yasir Hashmi taking 3-62.

Hornsey are away to Shepherds Bush this Saturday while Highgate travel to Kenton and North London are at home to MTSSC.

Vertonghen glad to be back and raring to go

DEFENDER Jan Vertonghen was pleased to be back in action after playing his first 45 minutes since the summer break as Spurs beat Championship outfit Brentford 2-1 in a behind-closed-doors encounter last week.

"It was a good match against a strong Brentford team and it was a nice first game to play," said the 28-year-old Belgian international.

"We had more of the possession and it was a good opponent to play at this stage. We know that fitness is very important and we're training very hard, but we try to put the same effort in during the games as well.

"We've also got a good bunch of new lads and some younger boys who are doing fantastically well. These games are a great chance for them to show what their qualities are and for us to learn new things as well."

Dele Alli, the 19-year-old signed from MK Dons, made it 2-0 late on in his first run-out for Spurs after Shaq Coulthirst had opened the scoring from the penalty spot.

The match also featured the first appearance of central defender Toby Alderweireld following his transfer from Atletico Madrid.

Back in action: Spurs defender Jan Vertonghen

Brentford pulled one back with the last kick of the game.

Vertonghen is now looking forward to a tough duel with former team-mate Clint Dempsey after the Spurs squad jetted off to the United States at the weekend to play the MLS All-Stars in Denver, Colorado.

Both Dempsey and Vertonghen in 2012 and spent one season together at White Hart Lane before the American international to Seattle Sounders.

"It will be great to play against Clint," said Vertonghen. "He's a very good player.

"It'll certainly be a test to play against him and it's sure to be another quality game as we build towards the first match of the season."

Also in the MLS squad is Robbie Keane, the marksman who scored 122 goals in 306 appearances for Spurs in two spells between 2002 and 2011.

Keane said: "This is a special one for me because it's against the club where I felt I made by name and had a big impact. Spurs is a club very close to my heart."

The Republic of Ireland international plays for three-time MLS champions LA Galaxy.

Borough kick off with home game

PROMOTED Haringey Borough will start life in Ryman Division One North with a home game against Dereham Town on August 8.

Last season's Essex Senior League champions then make the short trip to Cheshunt on August 11 before visiting Thamesmead Town on August 15.

Maldon and Tiptree are the visitors to Coles Park on August 22 and Borough are away to Waltham Abbey on August 25. In the preliminary round of the FA Cup, they have been drawn away to Felixstowe and Walton United or Barking on August 29.

They round off their pre-season friendlies with games at Northampton Spencer this Saturday and at Brimsdown next Tuesday.

They won 4-0 at Colney Heath last Saturday.
